“ Something possessed me to search Carol after so many years. I gasped when I found he had passed. My name is Debbie and I knew him well over 40 years ago. I wonder if he ever mentioned me. Regardless, I am truly happy, Michele, that he found you. I know his life was challenging and turbulent and it gives me peace that you and your son gave him great joy.

I, too, like Debbie, searched Carol and regrettably discovered he had passed on. I watched his emotional tribute video and found tears and joy crystallizing. So happy that Carol had a fulfilling life with a dedicated wife, son and other family. I remember Carol from MS Junior High and Merchantville High. He was consistently funny , loquacious and a “gentle giant.” RIP Carol. You are remembered. Amen.

“ When Carol and I were dating he would set his alarm for the time I got up so he could call me and be the first person I talked to, while I was at work he would leave poetry on my answering machine and he would call before I went to bed so he was the last person I would talk to everyday. Over the years whenever he wasn't home we would call each other each morning and before bed. I think that is what i will miss most, our talks in the morning and at bedtime.

“ My uncle always was the jokester. No matter the situation he found a way to make you smile. Ironically he had a side job being a clown I remember when I was younger watching him transform into the clown, thinking he is perfect. As,years went on so,did his suffering, Uncle Carol,always wanted to see you smile rather than you know how his day is going.. Now that he is rejoicing with his mom, Grandmom has her son back with her who will make her smile. No more pain. No more suffering
