“ Thinking of you and dad today. Christmas is just about over, and I was just thinking about how different everything is without you. On a day of "giving" I can't help thinking about all that you both have given throughout your lives. The greatest gift of all...which was yourselves. How fortunate I am to have such wonderful parents! My holidays won't be the same without you...but I will treasure all the memories of the times we shared together. I MISS YOU and I LOVE YOU! Although you spent christmas in heaven, a part of you was in the hearts of many.

All my love~ Barbarajeon

“ Our sister Carol believed that anything was possible, she will be remembered forever in our hearts! Carol is a warm, generous loving caring person and left us all with a somber heart.

Carol was always there for us when times got tough, she was always our best friend. Carol was always ready to love comfort and defend you she was our life long friend that you could count on until the end. Her life was cut short by the power of Cancer which eventually robbed her of life and took her away from us even though she fought it with every breath.

Carol set an example of courage and compassion that inspires everyone who stood by her side on her last days and to everyone who knew her through all her years.

This is for you Carol who will always be remembered as our Big Sister.

Those we love don't go away they walk beside us every day unseen unheard but always near still loved still missed and very dear! "I love you too"

We love you your sisters, Jeanne and Barb

“ Elaine and I are deeply sadden with the passing of Carol. Words cannot really express the loss we feel. Both Carol and Ed were wonderful, caring and giving people. To have both of them gone in such a short time is difficult to accept. However, now they will be together forever and in peace. Our sincerest condolences to Barbara Jean, Renee, Blake, and their families. You have a great legacy to perpetuate built on the hard work of your parents. Carol and Ed will always be in our thoughts and prayers. God Bless.
