“ I loved this man from Hello, when I met him thirty-one years ago. He was like a best friend to me more than a father in law. He was the most generous and down to earth human being you could imagine. Tears rolling down my cheeks as I write this. I will miss our talks and our time together terribly. This world is a lesser place without him in it. However, I'm also happy for him that he is in an eternal embrace with his beloved wife Beverly. He missed her so very much and now they are together forever. I love you Dee! I couldn't have asked for a better father in law! I ask myself why do I physically cry when talking about him? I know the answer is because I loved him. If you don't have love those feelings wouldn't show. I know some day I'll see your smiling face again and I know that you will give me a huge hug and I'll be so happy to see you. I promise to take care of your wonderful daughter, the love of my life! Of course I know that you know that.

I miss you so very much my friend. I know that my father, Jimmy Bradshaw, Bobby McGregor, your dad, your mom, your brother are all in line waiting to hug you and welcome you once you and Bev can separate for a second... lol! So hard to say goodbye but I know that you are happy, which gives me comfort. Until we meet again my friend. All my love, Joe

“ My Dearest friend Darrell. I cannot believe you are gone. We met 8 years ago and haven't gone a single day without speaking on the telephone. I will miss our 4 hour long conversations. We had the best friendship and I'm going to miss you. Our fun times camping in North Carolina and time spent at the cabin with family and friends. You were a widower and who would have thought I would be a widow. We helped each other through the darkest times in our lives. I hate that you are gone and I miss you horribly. God had it planned that we met. So for now my friend rest easy, give Beverly a big hug and kiss and tell my Jerry I'm ok and look forward to seeing him again when it's time.

“ Just so glad I had one last talk with you. Know you are at peace and back with Bev and the rest of the family. Now it's your turn to keep Ricky and Anthony in check cause I know they have got to be tormenting the crap out of mom. You know we spoke of it. Know you will be another guardian angel to your family. Know I will do everything I can to stay more connected. Thanks for our talks, your wisdom, but most of all your protection to our country. God bless you and you family/ our family. Be at peace brother.
