“ I have so many wonderful memories of my Aunt Gloria. She was such a warm, caring , giving person. I just turned sixty-one years old and always without fail received a birthday card along with a beautiful hand written note from her, the most recent last month. She was such a elegant lady. Love you so much Aunt Gloria , I just hoped you knew that.

My dear Aunt Gloria, so gracious, caring, loving . . . you will be deeply missed. The little loving notes you'd send me, always coming amazingly when I needed them most . . . reminding me how fortunate I and my brothers were to have my mother's family find her. Parents are the first people we meet in our lives. When they go, our past is a memory - our future puts us on the front line. Such is life . . . and so it goes. Hopefully we can, in small ways, emulate what you have taught us by example. Love you forever.
