Marino

On August 17, 2015 "Ray" Raffaele Marino passed peacefully surrounded by the love of his family and friends. He was quirky man with a great sense of humor. He was a true friend. He was the devoted husband of Joanne, father to Jennifer (Bernard) Ryan, Melissa (Eric) Blair, Jackie (Jay) Corsiglia and Ray Vincent, a son he wish he could have known. He was Pop-Pop to Dane, Jake, Callie, Alyssa, Zachary, Katherine, Cullen, Max and his "namesake" Nicholas Ray. He is survived by his mother Lillian Marino and the late Raffaele, his sister Judith Monahan and many nieces and nephews. Friends and family are invited to his memorial service Saturday, 11am-1pm at Inglesby Givnish's of Maple Shade, 600 E. Main Street. “"Raphael" as I often called him was my true friends that from the minute we met 3 or 4 summers ago; sharing & comparing our implanted metal that I could call upon any day or time & he would be there for me or pay one of my kids to clean up his lawn.

Jo: Ray always referred to you as "Princess" when we were together ❤️

I will sorely miss his company at the tool store where we would use coupons to get items we later complained were junk as we got back into the car. Ray & I shared of view of the world too real for most to comprehend, which is among only 1 of the reasons we clicked so well. Just this past weekend I lost my truck keys & started to call Ray for help then realized he was in the Carolinas w family.. As I sat there sweating I must've said 3 times "if Ray was in town he'd have been here with my spare keys already 😞

The only solace I take from this is that he's now outta pain, back in his 25 year old body lookin down tellin us to "have no regrets". Ray always told me no one could take away his memories. I only wish I'd taken him up on the numerous invite to the islands w he & Princess 💔

Jo; please know I am always here for you just as Ray would've been for my family.

God picks the prettiest flowers 1st brother 👍

“ Ray was, is, and always will be my best friend and my brother from another mother. We met in 1979 when a mutual friend, Lenny Carl asked us to back him and his family in a street fight in S.Philadelphia. There we were 2 opposing groups of teenagers facing off across Delaware Ave. Each side was yelling obscenities and taunting the other side. It was like it was scripted for a movie we looked at each other, looked at the guys across the street, looked at each other again and just took off across the street and commenced kicking some S. Philadelphia butts. After it was over and we were victorious, We knew we had found a friend for life. That was in 1979. We were there for every major event of each other's lives. Marriage, children, divorce and marrage for the second time (Each of us getting it right the 2nd time around) I introduced Ray to his wife JoAnne because it wasn't fair that I was married and he was single again. We always called each other brother I figured this way we would be brothers for real. When I separated from my first wife, Ray & Jo got custody of me. I could go on for 100 pages, what I will say in closing this note is you know who your best friend is, its the guy that knows all your good stories because he was a part of them. All of my good stories start the same exact way. This one time Ray and I.....

“ I am left with an irreplaceable void. Ray was a sweet and loving man. I have known this for decades, but he thought it was our little secret. Love and prayers to the family I gained through Ray's life. We still and always have each other.

Remember Mikey, at least once a month. You know what a lot of people said to me? We always thought you (meaning me) would be the first of us to go!!!

“ Ray was a gruff guy who at first seemed like he wanted nothing to do with you. But over time you realize he cared far more than he showed. We used to have family parties at my house for birthdays and holidays. Ray would always be in the room with the kids after loudly warning to keep them away from him. He would tell them stories about the boogy man and try to scare them but you could tell he preferred to be with them. He once let the kids tie him to my recliner so he wouldn't lock them in the shed. The kids loved it. When I broke my ankle he was there to take me to appointments. He would be out with Jo somewhere and he'd find coin banks and randomly give it to me out of the blue. (I still have them). He and Jo took my girls to cool places like New Hope and the Pennsylvania Renn Fair. He doted on Jo who he always called "Princess". I think he did things his own way. But his priorities were right. Farewell Ray.

“ I have way to many memories to pick just one. To those who didn't really know Ray, he seemed goofy, obnoxious and weird. To those he let in, we were the lucky ones! Ray had the biggest heart, he was very intelligent, witty and a bit "avant garde". He was a true friend and accepted people for who they are. Ray would be there in an instant if he was needed, without hesitation. I will treasure our friendship and the vast antics and memories we shared. I will truly miss him. My brother, my friend and partner in crime.
