So lucky to have had the privilege to call you friend as well as (hair) client . I enjoyed our time together talking about the Phillies, the shore and she always would ask about my grandbabies. She had that wonderful gift of making people feel special. I enjoyed her stories about her and her sister Betty . I loved her positive attitude and her fierce independence . She was a joy to chat with and she had a gorgeous head of hair to work with as well. Never complaining always a smile . She was so blessed to have such a devoted , loving daughter who kept her engaged, comfortable and well loved and cared for. Rest in peace sweet Ruth. Give Betty a big hug for me . Love Cara

“ When you live into your 100th year, some of the people around you may not be aware of the vital, and productive, person you were. I remember that person well. My mother's sister could best be described as devout. She was devoted to her family, her church, and her community, with a desire to be of service and support. An avid reader, accomplished needleworker, and family historian; she always wanted to know the what and why of everything. I will miss her dearly, as will all the members of our family. No one will ever call me "sugarplum" again, or share my interest in historical fiction, quite as much as Aunt Ruth. May she rest in peace. With love, Sandra
